This Week's Parashah

God commands Moses to take a census of all the Israelite males over twenty years of age. Moses and Aaron and the heads of each tribe record the census, the total of which is 603,500. The Levites are counted in a separate census, since they are not eligible to go to war. Moses instructs the Levites to camp around the Tabernacle. They serve as a barrier between the Tabernacle and the remaining tribes, who are instructed to camp in four groups of three tribes each also around the Tabernacle. Originally, firstborn Israelites were consecrated to God, since they escaped the plague of the death of all firstborn in Egypt. Now, however, God tells Moses to appoint the Levites to serve in the sanctuary in place of the firstborn. 22,000 male Levites replace 22,000 firstborn Israelites who would otherwise have been required to carry -out the sacrifices and religious worship in the Tabernacle. For the remaining 273 firstborn Israelites - for whom there were not enough Levites to serve as substitutes - a redemption price of five shekels per head is collected and paid to Aaron and his sons. A separate census is taken of the Kohathite clan of the Levites that is given the task of carrying the sacred objects from the Tabernacle during the Israelites' journeys.

Today's Haftarah

The Haftarah comes from the Book of Hosea. Hosea makes an analogy between his unhappy marriage to a wife who was unfaithful to him, and the Israelites who turned away from God. Hosea's wife Gomer didn't return her husband's love and faith. Instead she gave her love and devotion to others, spurning the faith of her husband. The Haftarah describes how the Jews, like a faithless spouse, betrayed God and then suffered as a result of their actions. When God showed His chosen people great love, the Israelites deserted Him preferring to pray to idols. But Hosea prophecies that God, in His mercy, will take back the Children of Israel. The final two sentences of the Haftarah – "And I will espouse you forever: I will espouse you with righteousness and justice, and with goodness and mercy. And I will espouse you with faithfulness; then you shall be devoted to the Lord" - are recited each weekday morning when tefillin are wrapped on the hand. The verses serve to remind Jews of the nature of their relationship with God.
