Rabbi Honig's Heartfelt Highlights

During my first year of rabbinical school, I somehow got dragged to see Frozen 2 on opening day. I thought the first Frozen movie was fine (scandalous, I know!) and I felt lukewarm about seeing the second – but a friend wanted to go, and I was up for the adventure. I was blown away! The soundtrack was incredible and one scene stuck with me in particular. When Princess Anna ends up lost and unsure what to do, she sings about her struggles and feeling lost. She then resolves that all she needs to do is "the next right thing." She doesn't have a big grand plan, just one foot in front of the other. An incredible lesson, especially for a children's movie, and a lesson that Chanukah teaches us as well.

Chanukah famously commemorates the miracle of the oil – the Maccabees thought they only had enough for one night, but it lasted for eight days. We now celebrate eight days, but Rabbi David Hartman challenges the narrative, asking what the miracle was on the first night. If they knew the oil was going to last for one night, why do we celebrate that night and not just the miraculous seven extra nights it lasted? Rabbi Hartman explains that the miracle of the first night was that without knowing the outcome, they lit the oil anyway. They didn't have some grand 26-point plan of how everything was going to work out, they just did the next right thing.

Sometimes our lives are like that, too. When the world feels overwhelming or we're not sure how to tackle a big life change, we can apply this lesson in our lives. You don't need to have a plan for the next year or six months or even the next eight days. Sometimes you just need to do the next right thing and that, just by itself, is worth celebrating. Wishing you and your families a de-light-ful celebration! Chag urim sameach!

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

A Message From Our President
Kevin Braude
president@bethshalomnb.org

Thanksgiving is a good time to notice the people who make our lives better, especially the ones who do it quietly. Jewish tradition calls this hakarat hatov, recognizing the good. Even our name reflects it. The Hebrew word for Jews, Yehudim, comes from Yehudah, Leah's son, whose name means "I will give thanks." The same root gives us todah, thank you. Gratitude is part of who we are.

At Congregation Beth Shalom, that gratitude has many addresses. Our clergy and staff carried us through the chagim with meaning and warmth, and much of their work happened long before the doors opened. Our volunteers greeted, ushered, built, cooked, and set up, often without anyone noticing. Our teachers, board members, and committee leaders give their time all year so that our community can keep growing.

We were also fortunate to welcome two new members to Carly Wallenstein's team this season: Tab Scribner, our Director of Religious School, whose shofar blowing on Rosh Hashanah many of us will not soon forget, and Alyssa Arkin, our Director of Youth and Family Engagement, who is already bringing new energy to our kids and families.

Tab Scribner

Alyssa Arkin

This month we mark the anniversary of Kristallnacht, and this year it feels closer to home. When our own building was vandalized, we were reminded that hate has not disappeared, and also that we are not alone. Neighbors, friends, and fellow congregations reached out with solidarity, and for that, too, we are grateful. In that spirit, please join us and six partner congregations on Monday, November 9, at 6:15 p.m. for a Kristallnacht concert with world-renowned cellist Amit Peled. Register at tinyurl.com/BearWitness26

None of what makes Congregation Beth Shalom special happens by accident. It happens because people choose to show up, lend a hand, and care for one another. To everyone who makes a difference here, in ways large and small, thank you.

As we gather around our Thanksgiving tables and look ahead to the lights of Chanukah, may we each recognize the good in our lives and the people who help make it so.

Wishing you and your families a warm and meaningful Thanksgiving.

L'shalom,

Kevin

CANTOR'S NOTES

A Message From Our Senior Cantor
Steven Stoehr
cantorstoehr@bethshalomnb.org

I'm writing with gratitude as I return from my one-month sabbatical. I had the blessing of officiating the wedding of my youngest daughter, Alana, to her wife, Peri. In these weeks of celebration, I also found ample time to open a few new books, began working towards publishing a book of poetry I've been working on for quite a while, and also polishing up my drama, The Lost Supper. I worked with the 59th Anniversary Committee towards our goal of interviewing a number of long-term members of CBS. I began planning fall and winter adult education classes, because learning, like community, is always worth restarting.

Stepping away from my daily obligations, and now coming back, helps me see more clearly what truly matters. It reminded me of life's beautiful cycles and the rhythms that shape us.

As we move into November, when leaves change and trees begin to let go, autumn teaches that change is inevitable and necessary. Shedding leaves doesn't diminish a tree, it prepares it for what's next. Sabbatical doesn't mean losing time, it can mean returning with renewed attention. Losing leaves, like losing loved ones, is an inevitable twist as seasons pass.

You may have noticed shifts during the recent High Holy Days and Sukkot; former members moving away for many personal reasons. When people migrate from their spiritual home it is natural for us who remain to wonder, "Did we do something wrong?", here is my reassurance: people's lives move in seasons, but rather than be begrudged, let's keep the doors open for return and never turn change into an indictment of self or community.

The Jewish people have always understood that life flows in cycles. What matters is not the number of people in the seats, rather what matters is the depth of what happens amongst those people who are here, and what is happening in CBS is beautiful.

Here, we pray and raise our voices together, accompanying one another through illness, grief, celebration, uncertainty, and joy. Here the youth of CBS encounter Jewish life as a living inheritance. Congregation Beth Shalom's strength is not determined by the membership reports, but in relationships, welcoming generosity and showing up for one another.

As Thanksgiving approaches, count blessings with intention: don't over-fixate on what's beyond your control, just like the season of autumn leaves.

Let us use our energy which can bear fruit. Look for the unique beauty of who we are right now. Let this be our community, people known by name, disagreement that doesn't cancel relationships, and a place where no one wonders if they belong.

When people we adore pass on, we mourn their absence. When vibrant colored leaves turn brown and drift to the ground, we know that in the next spring season we shall witness renewal. Coming back from sabbatical, after this transience of nature, I have a new positivity that CBS is waiting for its foliage to bloom next.

This November let us carry ourselves with both humility and pride knowing that here in the sacred halls of CBS we have a glorious membership of flowering families.

I am deeply grateful to be back with you, ready to teach, sing, and build our future together.

CBS U/ADULT EDUCATION

October was an incredible month of learning, conversation, and connection at Congregation Beth Shalom! Our Adult Education offerings brought our community together in so many meaningful ways.

Religious School

A Message From Our Religious School Director
Tab Scribner
tscribner@bethshalomnb.org

A Month of Learning, Celebration and Family Connection.

October was a wonderful month in our Religious School, filled with opportunities for our students and families to learn, celebrate and connect with one another.

We began the month by joining in on the congregational Simchat Torah celebration, which was highlighted by the amazing work of our 6th and 7th grade students who helped lead parts of the program, and of course the ice cream social that followed.

On October 11, we welcomed our youngest members of the Religious School and their families with our first Parent/Tot class. Providing a class for this age group gives those families a structured opportunity to participate alongside their children, learning, singing and exploring Jewish life and traditions together.

Having families learn side by side creates a wonderful sense of connection and community, which is a contributing factor in the creation of our new program, Mishpacha Moments, "mishpacha" meaning family. This new element to our Religious School gives our families another opportunity to create special Jewish memories of learning together.

Our first Mishpacha Moments program was on Sunday, October 18, with our 5th grade students. Rabbi Honig and Carly Wallenstein led a brilliant learning experience about the power of words.

Later in the month, our Kindergarten class got to have their special Mishpacha Moments, led by Rabbi Chapman and Carly Wallenstein. It was incredible to see the grownups as engaged as the children. Throughout October, we were reminded that some of the most meaningful learning happens when we come together—as students, families, teachers, and clergy—to celebrate our traditions and create Jewish memories together.

Israel Committee

by Jordan and Leslie Sigale

We hope everyone enjoyed the CBS Israel Committee's first book club on October 25. Special thanks to Marla Israel who led the congregational discussion of the book Young Zionist Voices by David Hazony. If you missed the discussion, there is still plenty of time to read the book and engage with your fellow congregants on this important topic.

Thank you to those who donated October 7th memorabilia to our synagogue memorial mosaic project to commemorate this awful chapter in the history of the State of Israel and our People Israel. More information will be coming shortly about the project.

The end of the calendar year is just around the corner. Why not buy a bond from Israel Bonds and donate it to an Israeli charity of your choice? It is one of those rare win-win-win opportunities. The Israeli charity wins. The State of Israel wins. And you win as you may qualify for a charitable deduction on your 2026 income tax return (consult your tax advisor). Please consider this unique force-multiplying opportunity. The list of charities is finite but includes many well-known not-for-profit organizations. Here are four of our favorites: American Friends of Hebrew University, American Technion Society, American Friends of Magen David Adom, and Jewish National Fund-USA (JNF-USA).

CBS Memorial Plaques

If you wish to honor the memory of a dear one, a most fitting, traditional and dignified remembrance is through a Memorial Plaque.

Each memorial plaque, bearing the name and yahrzeit date, is mounted on the tablet in the Moseson Alcove or Feather Beit Midrash. It is lit on the Shabbat of the week of the yahrzeit, on the day of the yahrzeit and on the four festivals during the year when Yizkor is recited.

The cost of a memorial plaque is $613.

Please call 847.498.4100 for more information or go to tinyurl.com/memplaque to order a plaque online.
